

Mental Health Screening & Evaluation Resource Packet

This informational packet outlines common standardized screening tools used by professionals to help identify symptoms of psychological disorders. Please note: Screening tools are intended to guide conversations with a healthcare provider and do not replace a formal clinical diagnosis.

1. Common Screening Tools & Public Availability

Many foundational rating scales are in the public domain and widely accessible to the public, while other proprietary diagnostic tools require a clinician license to purchase and administer.

Screening Tool	Target Condition	Availability Status
PHQ-9 (Patient Health Questionnaire)	Depression Severity	Free / Public Domain
GAD-7 (Generalized Anxiety Disorder)	Anxiety Severity	Free / Public Domain
ASRS (Adult ADHD Self-Report Scale)	Adult ADHD	Free (Developed with WHO)
PCL-5 (PTSD Checklist)	PTSD Symptoms	Free (VA National Center)
MMPI (Minnesota Multiphasic Personality Inventory)	Personality & Psychopathology	Restricted / Paid Professional Use

2. Sample Self-Screening Tool: GAD-7 (Anxiety)

Instruction: Over the last 2 weeks, how often have you been bothered by the following problems? (0 = Not at all, 1 = Several days, 2 = More than half the days, 3 = Nearly every day)

1. Feeling nervous, anxious, or on edge [0] [1] [2] [3]
2. Not being able to stop or control worrying [0] [1] [2] [3]
3. Worrying too much about different things [0] [1] [2] [3]
4. Trouble relaxing [0] [1] [2] [3]
5. Being so restless that it is hard to sit still [0] [1] [2] [3]
6. Becoming easily annoyed or irritable [0] [1] [2] [3]
7. Feeling afraid, as if something awful might happen [0] [1] [2] [3]

3. Next Steps for Professional Evaluation

- Consult a Primary Care Provider: Your doctor can perform routine blood work to rule out physical health conditions (like thyroid issues) that mimic mental health symptoms.
- Connect with a Specialist: Seek out a licensed clinical psychologist or psychiatrist for comprehensive diagnostic testing.
- Utilize Free Help Lines: If you need immediate assistance finding resources, you can call or text the Suicide & Crisis Lifeline at 988 (US) or reach out to the SAMHSA National Helpline at 1-800-662-4357.
